14th Street Bridge Improvement Project

As part of the 14th Street Bridge Improvement Project, there will be street closures and detours beginning February 2008 through summer 2009. Techwood Drive between 16th and 10th streets will close and not reopen until September 2009.

Georgia Tech's Distance Learning and Professional Education unit and the Georgia Tech Global Learning Center strongly encourage their students and guests to use MARTA, mass transit, or carpool if possible during this time. Visit www.14thstreetbridge.com for up-to-date information and transit options. Also, visit www.parking.gatech.edu for Tech Trolley and Stringer route updates.

Using MARTA

Simply take a north-south train to the Midtown MARTA station. Then catch the free Tech Trolley. We're the first stop before the trolley enters the main Georgia Tech campus. Cross the street and go through the courtyard to enter the Center. The trolley runs every six minutes from 7:30 a.m. until 7 p.m. Monday through Friday. For more information about the trolley, visit <http://www.parking.gatech.edu/> then follow the Tech Trolley link.

From the North Avenue MARTA station: Head north on West Peachtree Street until you reach Fifth Street. Turn left onto Fifth Street and go one block. Cross Spring Street at the pedestrian crossing.
